THE SLIM ENVELOPE AND THE RESULT

Claims of Chi. Vice Comish Backed Up by Story Told by Mary Jones—She Worked at The Fair at $4 Per —But She Had to Live and Eat.

The slim pay envelope and what it might do to a woman were up in Judge Uhlir's court today.

One of the thousands of girls hired and fired in State street stores told a plain story and an old story.

It's worth printing as new to show claims of the Chicago Vice Com'n on low wages are still true and at work in this city. The story:

Coppers arrested Mary Jones of 114 Grand av. and told Judge Uhlir they caught her soliciting. The court said:

"Mary Jones, you have a plain, honest, old-fashioned name. Are you guilty or not guilty?"

Mary Jones twisted the corner of a handkerchief, slanted her eyes at the judge and murmured:

"I'm guilty."

"What do you work at, Mary, or do you ever work?"

"I was in The Fair last February. I worked in the flannel department, second floor."

"The Fair—do you mean the big department store on State street?"

"Yes, that's the place."
